FARMER PINNED TO WALL BY CAR DIES.

Abbeville, Ala., Aug. 11.—A. L. Holland, 74, prominent Henry county planter, was crushed to death late Monday afternoon at Newville when an automobile leaped upon the sidewalk and pinned him against a brick wall. He had been sitting on the sidewalk with his back against the wall. Mr. Holland was rushed to a Dothan hospital where efforts to save his life proved futile. The automobile, which was owned by W. R. Brannon, had just been started up by the owner when it crashed up on the sidewalk. Mr. Brannon also is a prominent farmer and is a member of the board of education. It was believed that Brannon got the pedals confused and accidentally started the car forward instead of throwing it in reverse. Mr. Holland was a native of this section and took a prominent part in its affairs. He leaves a wife and two children. Mr. L. S. Bryan, of Troy, is the guest of his brother, Mr. H. C. Bryan, for a few days. Dr. and Mrs. G. N. Perdue, of Marshallville, Ga., have been spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rainer at Elba.

BIGGEST DRY RAID DIXIE EVER SAW KNOWN ON IN LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, Aug. 11.—In the midst of the biggest prohibition drive in the United States which went forward simultaneously throughout New Orleans, St. Bernard and Jefferson parishes and the Gulf coast Tuesday, Judge Andrew M. Sager, special assistant to United States Attorney General, Sargent sent here to take charge of prosecutions, declared all cases would be pushed through the federal court within one month.

Judge Sager made this statement Monday afternoon shortly before noon. By this time $510,000 worth of liquor had been seized here, in St. Bernard Parish and on the Mississippi coast.

More than a score raids had already been successfully accomplished in New Orleans and the mobilized agents, sent here from several parts of the country by order of Washington prohibition headquarters, expected to complete 40 more.

To try the cases Judge William L. Grubb, now sitting in the Northern district of Alabama, has been ordered to the local court on Sept. 1. Judge Sager said cases arising out of the present raids will take precedence over all other federal court cases and swift penalties will be dealt out.

At noon 23 persons had been arrested and many more served with affidavits.

E. C. Yellowley, chief of the general prohibition agents in Washington, in active charge of the raid, was assisted in directing the augmented forces by O. D. Jackson, prohibition director for Louisiana; M. H. Daly, director for Mississippi; and Arthur N. Sager, of the prohibition department in Washington.

Acting on information gathered by the local enforcement officers over a period of several months, the army of dry agents in chartered taxicabs swooped down on soft drink stands and places where liquor is said to be distributed. Residences, some of them in fashionable neighborhoods, yielded great quantities of liquor, and several arrests were made, according to Mr. Jackson.

Planning Six Months.

"We have been planning these raids for six months," said Mr. Jackson, "and our agents have been checking places to find where liquor was stored and from which it was being distributed. We had orders six months ago to dry up New Orleans, recognized as the wettest spot in America. Trained agents from other cities and states were gradually concentrated in New Orleans for the raids started this morning."

Coming into New Orleans from every direction, the dry agents spent Monday night in conferences with Mr. Yellowley and Director Jackson, mapping out the campaign against violators of the liquor law. Armed with search warrants obtained against places where liquor was known to be sold or stored, 20 squads set out at sunrise in a coastwise sweep, declared by prohibition directors to be the most sweeping series of raids ever conducted.

Looking Ahead---

How fast would your town grow, if every home were occupied and no new ones were being built?

How fast would Alabama grow, if every cent of available capital was being used to operate existing industries and no new capital was being spent to build new industries.

How many new industries—seeking hydro-electric power—would establish themselves here—if no provision were in prospect to meet not only their present—but their future power requirements?

To meet present demands and to care for future growth, both in population and industry, Alabama Power Company is building dams and extending transmission lines as fast as thousands of men can work. Electric energy must be available the moment it is needed, not after it is needed.

The Power Company has faith in Alabama's future—12,000 Alabamians and thousands of others who invest their earnings in Power Company securities, also have faith in our State. This faith made it possible for the Company to invest $9,000,000 in 1924.

What other business concern invested that much last year in Alabama?

Kinston, Ala., Aug. 18.—After stealing tools from a garage next door burglars early Monday morning dynamited the Kinston postoffice, stealing about $300 in cash and stamps and then made their get-away in a Ford sedan stolen from T. M. Holley. Mr. Holley missed his car this morning.

Citizens living near the postoffice were attracted by the noise made by the explosives used in opening the safe, but the burglars had escaped when they reached the scene. John Moseley, Chief of Police at New Brockton Kills Self Accidentally

One of the saddest deaths to occur in this section for some time was that of Mr. John Moseley, which occurred at New Brockton last Monday morning, when the accidental firing of a shot gun brought his life to an untimely end.

Mr. Moseley arose early Monday morning and went to the point where the town's source of water supply is located, his purpose being to set the machinery in motion for the day's work. On leaving home he took his shot gun, stating that possibly he might be able to get some squirrels. Mrs. Moseley, after having awarded breakfast for him for some time, sent her brother out to locate him. He was found sitting in his car, the gun having supposedly been discharged just as he was in the act of starting his car to return home. The load from the gun penetrated his left side striking his heart. When found he had been dead for sometime.

Mr. Moseley had been police man at New Brockton for some time and the people give him credit for being the best officer the town ever had.

Deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moseley, of near Victoria, and besides his parents he is survived by a widow, one little daughter and three young sons, two brothers and several sisters.

Interment occurred at New Brockton Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. M. T. Moore preached the funeral sermon and the Masons had charge of the body at the grave. He was also a member of the Knights of Pythias.

SENATOR HEFLIN SPEAKS ON FARMERS PROBLEMS.

Senator J. Thomas Hefflin, while speaking before the Tuscaloosa Farm Bureau at their Annual Picnic on last Thursday, has the following to say about the problems that are facing the farmers today:

"How to reduce the cost of production and how to increase the production per acre are two of the vitally important problems confronting the farmer today, but how to obtain profitable prices for farm products is the paramount question always.

"If the farmer fails to obtain a profitable price for his products, his efforts and investments are lost and he has 'labored in vain.' For what shall I profit a farmer if he is diligent in business during the planting, growing and gathering season, if he sells his crop at, or below, the cost of production? Those who produce that which feeds and clothes the world are entitled to a good profit and they owe it to themselves, and those dependent upon them, to do the thing necessary to obtain profitable prices.

"We are now entering upon the cotton selling season and the most important question that now confronts the cotton farmer, is how can he dispose of his crop to the very best advantage; how can he market it so as to obtain the best price possible. The thing that will enable him to sell at the time most favorable, that will aid him in selling sparingly so as to keep the market keen and hungry, is the thing that he should do. The Cotton Growers Cooperative Association furnishes the instrumentality for the certain accomplishment of that purpose. It has already accomplished much, not only for our cotton farmers, but for the whole South. I verily believe that its presence and activities have resulted in better prices for our cotton and been the means of bringing millions into the South that otherwise would not have come.

"There are powerful organized forces at work now, and they will continue to work throughout the cotton selling season to beat down the price of cotton so that they can buy it at the lowest figure possible, and it behooves the cotton farmer to use the united and organized sense and strength to combat and defeat their efforts.

"If this crop is handled properly, marked intelligently, the prices will range from 25 to 30 cents. Cotton is being used for more purposes today, than ever before in its history.

Pains Very Severe

"I suffered from womanly troubles which grew worse and worse as the months went by. I went to Dr. H. H. Cantrell, of R. F. D. 9, Gainesville, Georgia.

"I frequently had very severe pains. These were so bad that I was forced to go to bed and stay there. It seemed to me my back would come in two.

"I taught school for a while, but my health was so bad I would have to stop every sometimes. This went on till I got so bad I didn't know what to do.

"One day I read about the merits of Cardui, and as I had some friends who had had a bottle of it, I bought one and gave it a thorough trial. I took it all about 12 bottles and now I am perfectly well. I do not suffer any more and can do all my housework."

Surely That Was Big Point in Car's Favor

The motor car salesman was showing a prospective customer round the showroom.

Several of the splendid exhibits caught the client's eye, but none were sufficiently powerful to cope with his desire for speed. There was one, however, that he thought of buying, only the parts which might go wrong were most inaccessible.

"If only one didn't have to crawl under the thing to buy it," he confided to the salesman.

"Oh, if that's the trouble," replied the latter, "I can soon set you right." He led the way to where a shining piece of glory on four wheels glistened in the morning sun.

"This is our finest speed car," he said, turning to the customer. "Just the very thing you want. Right up to date. You'll never have to crawl underneath this one, sir."

"You don't?" said the other, in surprised tones.

"No," went on the agent; "it's the slightest thing goes wrong with the mechanism the car automatically turns inside down."

No Fixed Price for Gospel in the East

Two ples, equal to one cent, will purchase a gospel in India. In China the gospel is purchasable for one-twentieth of a cent, although it costs three times as much to produce. Very often, when money is lacking, Bible sellers receive payment in kind. In Korea, for example, a colporteur took two ears of corn for a gospel; and another exchanged five gospels for as many stalks. A third reported the receipt of 80 eggs and two pairs of straw shoes in payment for books. A drinking horn was accepted in Brazil for one Testament. In India a gospel is often given for an egg. A missionary in Ceylon who met a man who wished to buy a gospel, but had no money, gave him the book in exchange for some beans which he was engaged in sorting.

Meerschmum Pipes

Meerschmum is the name given to one of the silicates of magnesium. It is a mineral of white, creamy color, and receives its name from its appearance and the position in which it is sometimes found, suggesting that it is obtained from various places and the best quality comes from Asia Minor. Rich deposits of it exist at a place called Sordely, about twenty miles from Elsbekir. It is soft when dug, but becomes hard when dry. Most of it is sent to Vienna, where, before the war, where it was made into tobacco pipes, many of them highly artistic. Similar pipes are made in London and Paris. The pipes are cut into shape and afterward polished.

Among the Lost Arts

When a knife or a sword is broken in half, present-day skill is unable to mend the article without marring the temper. Yet in the early part of the last century there lived in a small Welsh village a man who was able, within half an hour, to weld broken swords so skillfully that none could detect the joining. His secret was lost with him. How the ancient mended their weapons is still an unsolved mystery. Many pictures on the walls of the excavated city of Pompeii look fresh today, and even the painted notices of an election about to take place when the city was destroyed still tell travelers, in vivid colors, for whom to vote.

Looking Up in the World

The last we saw of the Fiji Islanders was a black form disappearing into the undergrowth with a shirt flapping in the breeze. This was back in the days when we studied geography, and in our daydreaming of roving about the world the Fiji Islanders were one place we did not want to be shipwrecked on. The Islanders lived their stocks due too rare, but how the world changed! Here we read that the Fiji Islanders were a Rotarian club. We hope the Fiji Islanders have not misinterpreted Rotary's slogan: "The profit most who serves best."—Allwaukee Journal.

Ducks Delay Train

In the springtime beautiful black and white ducks fly across the North sea from Holland to the great domain at Sandringham. Later, when the eggs are hatched, and the young birds are a few weeks old, a slow trek is made across the marshes to the Wash. The little ones are still unable to fly, and in waiting upon the railway line which runs between the road estate and the sea, they hinder the local trains that cross between Dersingham and Wolferton, for the ducks pay great respect to these spring visitors.

Perceptive Not Particular

The perceptive has a voracious appetite. In his insatiable voraciousness he is nearly as bad as a goat. He will eat almost anything.

He has an insatiable craving for salt. In his camp raids he will grab any thing that has the semblance of a salt flavor, says Kenhardt. He will chew up his handles, eat socks, and then be touched by perspiring hands.

CO-OPS IN ALABAMA DO HUGE BUSINESS.

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 10.—For the first time in history, farmers of Alabama did business on the cooperative plan averaging more than $1,000,000 a month during the year ending June 30, 1925, according to information made public at the State Farm Bureau headquarters, Montgomery. The records show that the different divisions of this organization did a business of buying and selling which totaled $12,489,687.99 during the year. For the previous year the total business was $11,705,463.84; and two years ago it was $9,390,853.01. These figures are for the period during which cooperation has been practiced in Alabama on a State-wide basis, but for several years farmers in different localities have bought fertilizers and seeds and sold their products on this plan. Since 1917 farmers in southeastern Alabama have sold hogs cooperatively and during the peak of hog production the sales on this plan totaled more than a million dollars per annum.

In announcing the Farm Bureau figures, which were done at the recent annual meeting at Montgomery, President O'Neal said that the increase in the volume of business handled was larger than the increase in the money indicators because cotton averaged about 6 cents a pound below the previous year, while the calcium arsenate and hairy vetch seed was each below that of the former year. The biggest cooperative project was cotton marketing which totaled $9,690,547.10, while fertilizer bought was next with $2,600,000.

President O'Neal reported also a membership increase of 15 per cent during the last 12 months, bringing the total to 26,000. Two new counties were organized, making 62 out of 67.

UNIQUE SUIT AGAINST AUTO MANUFACTURERS.

Samson Ledger says: A suit involving a car is said to be an absolutely new principle in responsibility of motor car manufacturers of the State. Circuit court Tuesday by E. C. Boswell of Geneva, a prominent attorney of the county. Mr. Boswell claims $999 damages to the car and $2,000 personal damages.

Some time ago Mr. Boswell was the victim of a motor car accident which he alleges was due to lack of lubrication which he alleges was caused by failure of the mechanism to work. The engine, colloquially speaking, "froze while running along the highway some miles South of Troy, locking the hind wheels, causing the car to skid and turn over, wrecking the vehicle and inflicting painful and serious injuries on Mr. Boswell.

The uniqueness of the suit is said to be in the claim that car manufacturers are liable for personal damages in accidents alleged to be due to mechanical faults. Mr. Boswell says he proposes to find out, and the case will no doubt be watched with much interest by attorneys and car manufacturers.

MUST READ BIBLE IN ALABAMA SCHOOLS.

Of interest to local and all county schools is the statement from Montgomery that teachers who fail to read the Bible in schools will fail to draw salaries.

In checking over records of county superintendents of schools in Alabama, Assistant Examiner of Public Accounts C. C. McCall will note among other things whether the provision of law requiring daily readings from the Bible in public schools in Alabama is being complied with, he said Thursday. If report forms submitted to county superintendents of education fail to show whether or this provision has been complied with, it will be assumed it is stated, that it has not.

The assistant examiner will check the matter as to daily readings from the Bible in public schools, with the opinion rendered Wednesday by Attorney General Harrell G. Davis, upholding the validity of the act of the legislature requiring readings from the Bible in the schools. If and when non-compliance with this legal provision is found action will be taken in accordance with the ruling by the attorney general.

WAR EXPLOSIVE IS AGAIN AVAILABLE.

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 18.—Pyrotol, a war-salvaged explosive will be available for the people of Alabama again this year. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced through L. C. LeBrou, agricultural engineer at Auburn, that 200,000 pounds have been allotted to Alabama for the approaching fall, winter, and spring. It will be distributed through the Extension Service, the county agent in each county receiving orders and sending them to Mr. LeBrou who is in charge of distribution in this State.

Pyrotol is a powerful explosive left on hand at the close of the world war. It was placed on the market a year ago, and farmers of Alabama bought 100,000 pounds last fall and winter. It is used by farmers for land clearing, for stump pulling, rock blasting, ditching and other purposes.

The price announced by the government is $10.00 per 100 pounds, f. o. b. shipping point. It comes in 100-pound drums. One thousand pounds is the maximum to one person.

Mr. LeBrou says that pyrotol is the cheapest explosive now available for the purposes named. Farmers who used it last year were highly pleased with it. They found it cheap, efficient, and satisfactory in every way.

Since only 200,000 pounds have been allotted to this State Mr. LeBrou suggests that orders be placed early to insure delivery. Fall and winter are the best seasons for using it.
